Dear Prospective Students,

Welcome to the Postgraduate School of Law, Queen Mary, University of London. Our School of Law, one of the largest in the UK with over 60 full-time staff and 650 postgraduate students, has established a reputation for providing high quality teaching by staff who have both practical and academic expertise in almost all areas of law.

Staff of the School have advised the United Nations, EU institutions, the Council of Europe, UNESCO, the World Bank, the International Court of Justice and NGOs, private companies, the public sector, as well as the government and Parliament in the UK and abroad. Several staff are also qualified lawyers with substantial experience as practising barristers and solicitors.

Our diverse student population, from over 60 different jurisdictions, including practitioners, recent law graduates, judges, private/public sector experts and governmental officials, can benefit from the additional expertise and experience of visiting staff both from the UK and abroad, including practitioners—solicitors, barristers, partners, QCs, judges, consultants - and leading academics, who contribute to programme teaching. Together this creates a dynamic and supportive community of scholars who learn from each other, whilst providing students with excellent networking opportunities. Many leading law firms regularly give presentations to our students. Some of them also offer internships or jointly funded scholarships, in recognition of the excellent calibre of our students and staff expertise.

Scholarship and research shape the content and delivery of our programmes, seminars and workshops, ensuring relevant and topical materials and debate underline the teaching and student/staff interaction.

Our Postgraduate School of Law is conveniently located in Lincoln's Inn Fields, Holborn, which is the heart of legal London. Near to numerous law firms, barristers chambers and the Courts of Justice, we are just a short walk from the University of London's Institute of Advanced Legal Studies, where you can take advantage of the facilities and resources of one of the world's most extensive law libraries. Such a central location is especially helpful for London based professionals following our courses on a part time basis whilst working.

We look forward to meeting you and hope you will join us in the class of 2010, and that you will benefit from the wealth of cultural, academic and social activities that London and Queen Mary has to offer.

Programme

Due to large numbers of visitors at recent open evenings, we have decided to run two separate sessions. Visitors are kindly asked to arrive at least 5 minutes before the Welcome Talk they have booked.

For capacity reasons, latecomers, visitors without a booking and visitors who arrive at the incorrect talk time will not be admitted to the Welcome Talk, but will be able to go straight to the subject breakout sessions instead.
