Programme Details

Module Selection Advice

Module selection is a complicated process due to the variety of options available and the rules governing the general programme structure and specialist pathways. Therefore, students should NOT select modules until AFTER the induction week and receipt of the necessary programme information.

The deadline for module selection is Sunday 7th October. Please note that early selection of a module is not necessary to ensure a place.

Other Information

Semester One Teaching
The full teaching timetable will be given to you at the Programme Induction. Please note that classes will be held across the Queen Mary campuses (e.g. Lincoln’s Inn Fields, Mile End, Charterhouse Square and Russell Square).

Teaching starts on Monday 1st October 2018

Books
In general, many of the law books required during your studies can be purchased from the School of Law, further information can be found on the Queen Mary e-shop. The Finance books for compulsory modules will be arranged through the School of Economics and Finance – further details to be given at the start of term.

Assessment
Each module has its own distinct method of assessment and details will be included in the module outlines. The majority of Law modules are assessed either by a written examination or by course work.

Accommodation
For accommodation advice and information please visit our residences website.

Contact
If you have any questions regarding either programme, please contact the Programme Administrator by email ccls-joint-programmes-admin@qmul.ac.uk or telephone +44 20 7882 7228.

LATE ARRIVAL

Students are required to make every effort to be in the UK for the official enrolment and induction period. Students who cannot enrol on the dates indicated or attend induction events for any reason must contact Kate Allen at: ccls-joint-programmes-admin@qmul.ac.uk

Late enrolment MUST BE AGREED IN ADVANCE and good reason given. Late enrolment is only permitted for a LIMITED period and any student having difficulties must contact Kate to discuss this. Kate may consult with Michelle Dean Joint Programmes’ Co-ordinator) as necessary. Specific late enrolment dates and advice will be given depending on arrival date.

It is never a good idea to start your degree in this manner as the induction period is VITAL for gathering information on modules in order to make an informed choice. Therefore it is important that if you are unavoidably going to be late, that you arrive AS SOON AS POSSIBLE so that you can attend as many induction events as you can.
