

International Research Networking Project “Language and Gender: Academic Research and Practical Implementation” 2023/2024

Opening Event: International Research Networking Project

Angeliki Alvanoudi

Aristotle University of Thessaloniki

aalvanoudi@enl.auth.gr / alvanoudiag@yahoo.gr

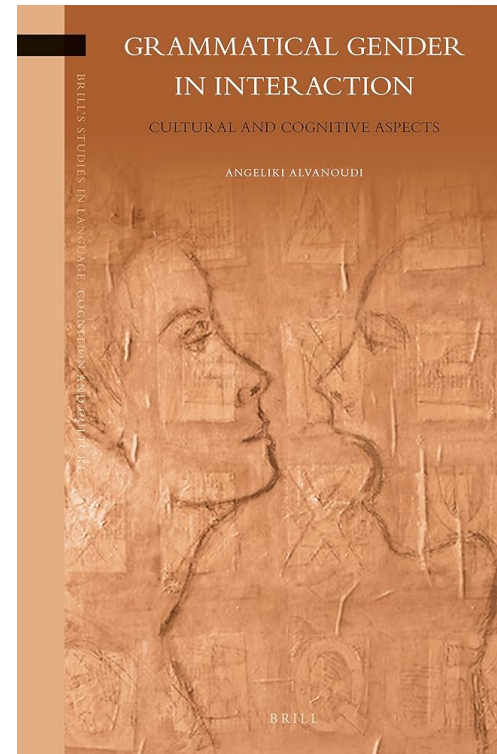

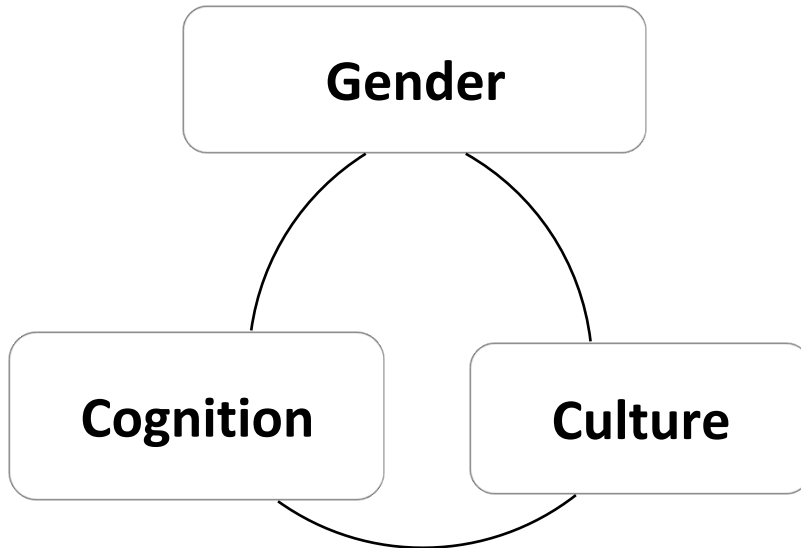

<https://aovivo.abralin.org/en/lives/angeliki-alvanoudi-2/>

- What is the relationship between grammatical and lexical gender, and the construction of social gender?
- Do gendered terms generate inferences about the social gender order and mediate speakers' thinking of the social world?
- Can we explore conceptualizations of gender at the level of discourse?
- What is the cognitive effect of the generic use of the masculine gender? What are the cognitive mechanisms underlying gender inequality?

Selected publications...

- Alvanoudi, A. (2015) Grammatical Gender in Interaction: Cultural and Cognitive Aspects. Leiden: Brill.

- Alvanoudi, A. (2015) The routine achievement of gender in Greek conversation. Gender and Language 9(1): 11-31.

- Alvanoudi, A. (2016) Aspects of the meaning of gender: Introduction. International Journal of Language and Culture 3(1): 56-67.

SPECIAL SECTION ON ASPECTS OF THE MEANING OF GENDER

Aspects of the meaning of gender: Introduction	56-67
Angeliki Alvanoudi
Gender, shape, and sociality: How humans are special in Manambu	68-89
Alexandra Y. Aikhenvald
Gender in Hinuq and other Nakh-Daghestanian languages	90-114
Diana Forker
Sexless babies, sexed grandparents: Nungon gendered person terms	115-136
Hannah Sarvasy

- Is there semantic motivation for gender assignment across gender systems and how is gender expressed in various languages?
- Does this semantic motivation relate with speakers' sociocultural practices?
- What happens in languages with no gender systems? How is the cultural category of gender communicated in these languages?

- Alvanoudi, A. (2017) The interface between language and cultural conceptualizations of gender in interaction: The case of Greek. In F. Sharifian (Ed.), Advances in Cultural Linguistics, 125-147. Singapore: Springer.
- Alvanoudi, A. (2020) Are gendered terms inference-loaded? Evidence from Greek talk-in-interaction. Journal of Language and Discrimination 4(1): 74-97. *
- Gender ideologies are anchored in the use of gendered terms and fuel inferences about referents which sustain and reproduce the dominant gender order

- Indexing gender, culture and cognition: An introduction *
Angeliki Alvanoudi 1-15
- Personality traits, adjectives and gender: Integrating corpus linguistic and psychological approaches
Heiko Motschenbacher, Eka Roivainen 16-50
- Uno: A corpus linguistic investigation of intersubjectivity and gender
Federica Formato, Vittorio Tantucci 51-73
- The social deixis of gender boundaries: Person appellation practices in Croatian
Roswitha Kersten-Pejanić 98-118

- Alvanoudi, A. (2018) Gender, language and a lipstick: Creating cultural change in a world of paradoxes. Humanities 7, 87.
- Gender inclusive language is a political strategy for dismantling patriarchy, subverting regimes of power and subordination and redesigning our 'feminine' condition (Braidotti 1991)

Project expectations?

Interdisciplinary collaboration

Feminist scholars becoming agents of social reform