Exciting new lecture programme for 2020

The guest lecture programme, which is designed to provide Pre-Sessional students with extensive listening and note-taking practice, will feature a number of highly-regarded academics from Queen Mary and elsewhere.

In 2020, our lecturers include Dr. Ling Ma (top left), Associate Professor of Software Engineering at Queen Mary; and Dr. Sadhvi Dar (left), from the School of Business and Management, who will be lecturing on Corporate Social Responsibility.

A unique and innovative learning environment

On our Pre-Sessional, we make use of innovative approaches to teaching and learning. Using multimedia language labs and our tailor-made online resource of e-learning materials “Academic English Online” (http://aeo.sllf.qmul.ac.uk/), we aim to provide you with an engaging and varied learning environment. As students with us, you will also have full access to our virtual learning environment, QM Plus, where you will be able to watch our lecture programme again.

What our students say about the Pre-Sessionals...

"I did Pre-Sessional B and C and I gained an insight into university study before I started my LLM. It was also helpful to get used to life in Britain by making friends and exploring the city together. Doing research on legal issues and writing essays is helping with my final dissertation now. I highly recommend it because at the end you will feel confident in your academic studies." (Gökce Mutlu. Pre-Sessional Student) Gökce’s video: https://vimeo.com/156687194

"Needless to say, I have learnt English skills, specifically the methods to cite articles and books in your legal writing. I also had a lot of opportunities to meet students who are studying different subjects such as Science and Business. The conversation with these students in English was fascinating and inspiring."
