

Have you been involved in the care of older adult patients supported through the REACH service?

Researchers want to hear your insights on how care for older people can be improved.

REACH (Remote Emergency Access Coordination Hub) is a pre-hospital support service where emergency physicians support London Ambulance Service (LAS) and other teams with decision-making about the care of patients.

Who can take part?

If you are involved in REACH or support the care of older adult patients through the service, we would like to hear from you:

- Emergency Department doctors or hospital clinicians
- Paramedics or LAS staff
- GPs or primary care staff
- Community, virtual ward, or urgent response teams
- Care home or social care staff

What does it involve?

- A single interview, no more than 60 minutes long
- Interviews can be in-person or online (MS Teams)
- You will be offered a £20 voucher for your time
